

Jobsulting - The #1 Platform for Management Consulting Jobs

Consulting Quest Has Launched their Recruiting Platform, Jobsulting! Consulting Candidates Now Have a Dedicated Platform for Consulting Opportunities All in One Place!

PRINCETON, NJ. Jobsulting was created to help provide the top consulting talent a platform where they can access job opportunities specific to the industry. It is the only Management Consulting-focused global recruiting platform that partners with consulting firms to link their demands to the right talent.

Jobsulting offers a premium job search experience for both the experienced professional as well as the newly grad. Candidates can create their own profile where they can upload their resume. They are also able to fully customize their search for opportunities using terms specific to the Consulting Industry sortable by geography, capability, and industry experience.

Academic Institutions now have the ability to showcase their future graduates and increase exposure for their organization with both consulting firms and recruiters on our featured partners page.

"We felt there were a lot of general recruitment platforms currently on the market", says Helene Laffitte, CEO of Consulting Quest, "but none that served the Consulting Industry and its specific needs. This is a platform built for consultants by consultants using industry specific search terms to ensure candidates can find the opportunity that best fits their experience."
