

Teambuilder The #1 Marketplace for Consultant Subcontracting

Teambuilder is the only Global Platform which helps Consulting Firms to find independent and vetted consultants to join, as an independent contributor, an existing team for the duration of a project.

PRINCETON, NJ. Consulting Quest's newest Platform, Teambuilder, is an online marketplace filled with available, pre-qualified independent consultants ready to supplement medium to large consultancies to fill out their teams on a global scale. Teambuilder provides firms the ability to maximize their winning chances on proposed projects by aligning the makeup of their team with the client's needs.

What's missing in the marketplace now is the ability to effectively find the right consulting talent for your projects in a time efficient manner who you can trust. Each team member entered in our marketplace goes through the Consulting Quest Pre-Qualification Process powered by our ConPAS methodology based on voice of the customer feedback from their past project performance ensuring each member is appropriately qualified for their capability and skillset.

Teambuilder gives consulting firms the agility to qualify for more diverse assignments without inflating their long-term overhead costs. Our pool of pre-qualified team members provides a broad range of capabilities, industry experience, and various geographies giving your firm the firepower it needs to win more projects.

"One of the most stressful situations is to start on a project with a subcontractor who you have just met on short notice," said Laurent Thomas, Co-Founder at Consulting Quest, "how will they perform? Could this damage your reputation with the client? Is this risk necessary? With Teambuilder, consulting firms have access to a global pool of highly skilled consultants they can trust when they need them."

Have a project you need help with? Create your profile today at <https://teambuilder.consultingquest.com/> and start your search for team members.

You can also e-mail us directly at Teambuilder@consultingquest.net.

About Teambuilder

---

Teambuilder is the first global marketplace specialized in providing consultancies and independent consultants alike a shared location to communicate their project team needs and pair it with the right skills and expertise. The platform is designed to streamline the search process for bringing on consultants to strengthen your team and win more projects.

About Consulting Quest

---

Consulting Quest is a global, performance-driven consulting platform founded in 2014 by former members of top 10 consulting firms with the objective of reinventing consultancy performance. With a worldwide presence and a range of proprietary performance measurement tools, we help companies navigate the consulting maze. We work with Consulting Clients to increase their performance through consulting and Consulting Providers to help them acquire new clients and to improve their performance.